

#TalkIntoAction

Have you ever attended a diversity program where you found yourself looking around the room and thinking that the audience was the choir, that those who needed to hear it, weren't there?

THE CHALLENGE

Jump start conversations about diversity by putting the talk into action.

During the month of January engage in a #TalkIntoAction discussion by devoting ONE HOUR to discussing diversity, equity, and inclusion issues with another professional whose diversity is different from yours.

WHY

Enjoy the opportunity to discuss important issues with someone who may or may not share your views. Open someone's eyes (or have your own opened) to a different perspective.

At the end, snap a photo or screenshot and send to Jennifer.Jackson@theiilp.com.

We'll feature you on our social media accounts. Let's see how many people are ready to move from #TalkIntoAction!

THE INSTITUTE FOR INCLUSION IN THE
LEGAL PROFESSION

#TalkIntoAction

SUGGESTED DISCUSSION TOPICS:

- What has prevented the legal profession from making more progress in becoming more diverse, equitable, and inclusive?
- What are constructive things that we can do to move the DEI needle in the legal profession?
- What is one thing that a law firm/corporate law department/government agency/bar association etc. could do to enhance DEI efforts?
- How can we become more mindful and self-aware of our own implicit biases?
- What are the best ways to engage people about the diversity, equity, and inclusion challenges and concerns beyond their own type of diversity?

GROUND RULES

Be open and honest about your perspective and experiences.

Treat each other and each other's perspectives, opinions, and experiences with respect.

#TalkIntoAction discussions are just discussions. They are not debates and the objective is not to change the other person.

The aim is for both participants to critically examine their own views, perspectives, and opinions by learning from the other's.
